Introduction

The Minnesota Public Television Association (MPTA), made up of Minnesota's six independent Public television stations whose broadcast signals reach the entire State and some surrounding, established a unified system to report back to the public and the legislature about station achievements utilizing Legacy Amendment funding from the State Arts and Cultural Heritage Fund. Each station has produced series and programs for broadcast on-air, and developed comprehensive companion websites for streaming programs, web extras and educational materials. For greater accessibility to the people of Minnesota, legacy content is also broadcast on the statewide Minnesota Channel and the additional television outlets licensed to each station. All of the programs produced with Legacy funds are archived online and are free for viewing anytime for present and future generations.

Having now completed our first full biennium of producing new Arts and Cultural programming, the stations of the MPTA have an incredible story to tell. The Clean Water, Land and Legacy Amendment has provided an unprecedented opportunity to preserve, educate and showcase the rich talents of our citizenry. For the past two years public television stations have emphasized the best of Minnesota – its environment, art, history and its many vibrant cultures and traditions – in short, it is a rich legacy archived forever. In addition, the efforts of the MPTA producing stations have been transparent and our legacy programs have given credit to the Arts and Cultural Heritage Fund and the “citizens of Minnesota” for making this treasure trove of new digital media possible.

In the pages that follow you will read about the ever-increasing volume of new programming made available, the economic impact the programs have had, the Emmy Awards and nominations this new body of programming has received, and the positive feedback and comments from viewers in thanks for presenting high quality, educational Arts and Cultural programming.

This report consolidates all MPTA Legacy activities and contains the specific details of the Legacy production activities of each station. In order to make the report easier to read and understand, we have developed common categories of measurement, and criteria upon which to report.

The Legacy grants have provided Minnesota's public television system the opportunity to document and preserve Minnesota's cultural history, create jobs to benefit our local economies, increase awareness and sales by local artists who are small businesses, and to connect with, and to tell the stories of, the people who live and work in their broadcast service areas.

On behalf of all six Minnesota public television stations, we must note our sincere appreciation to the State Legislature for designating the MPTA as a grant recipient of the Arts and Cultural Heritage Fund. The following achievements have been made possible by your generosity.

KSMQ Public Service Media, Austin/Rochester

KSMQ is southern Minnesota and northern Iowa's local public television station featuring award-winning local programming, PBS favorites and a unique blend of nationally produced programs. We reach over 655,000 people living in Austin, Albert Lea, Rochester, Mason City, Mankato, Faribault, Winona, Owatonna and surrounding areas.

Weekly Arts & Culture series

Off 90

Now in its third season, KSMQ continues to produce Off 90 which premieres Sunday evenings with encores twice during the week. Episodes take a look at our shared culture and heritage, featuring stories from up the highway, and down Main Street. This year we've featured individual artists ranging from potters to fashion designers, Civil War history, cultural organizations, and historic buildings.

Arts & Culture Special Programs

Playhouse Off 90 & Off 90 Presents

Through arts & culture special programming, KSMQ is able to bring unique artists and art experiences to our audience in a longer format than our weekly program allows. Playhouse Off 90 represents our partnership with the The Minnesota Shorts Festival of Plays and features Minnesota based playwrights and actors. Off 90 Presents features musical concerts with specific interest to southern Minnesota.

New Minnesota Documentaries

Painting with Light: Winona's Stained Glass Legacy and Pride of the Prairie: Southern Minnesota's County Fairs KSMQ produced two new documentaries this year. Painting with Light tells the story of Winona, the stained glass capital of the United States, and its six stained glass companies and the unique craftsmanship it takes to create these beautiful works of art. Pride of the Prairie tells the story of Southern Minnesota County Fairs where each year the best of the best in farming, crafts, and art are judged along with all the joy rides and tasty treats you remember.

New short-subject interstitials featuring Minnesota content

Legacy Moments (5) and Quick Stops (18)

Legacy Moments are interstitial materials that highlight historic events and personalities in a shorter format but are ongoing throughout our programming schedule. Material for Quick Stops is drawn from or related to topics featured on Off 90.

Diversity commitment

KSMQ is dedicated to showcasing the full range of arts, artists and cultures present in southern Minnesota. Cultural, racial and ethnic diversity is one of the factors considered in planning the production schedule. The year we've featured everything from the Mankato Wacipi (Pow Wow) to Norwegian Weaving.

Community Outreach

KSMQ has promoted our Legacy supported productions in a number of ways including press releases, radio spots, print articles and advertising and online marketing as well as our own Fine Tuning program guide.

KSMQ hosts or participates in local Legacy activities in our communities whenever possible. This past fall, for example, KSMQ hosted a preview event of our third season of Off 90 at the Rochester Art Center. Over 100 community members attended including local elected officials, state legislators, local artists and KSMQ members. Earlier in the year, KSMQ participated in "Arti-Gra" an event hosted by the Rochester Arts Council that highlighted Legacy supported activity in southern Minnesota.

One of the most effective tools for reaching out to the community is KSMQ's Legacy production staff. Serving as ambassadors for KSMQ and the Legacy Amendment, through their professionalism and respect for arts, artists and cultural organization, our producers build the reputation of KSMQ's and all Legacy supported activities.

Partnerships and collaborations

KSMQ has partnered or collaborated with numerous organizations throughout our region. A few of those who have been particularly instrumental in advancing Legacy programming this year are: the Rochester Art Center, The Paramount Theatre, KMSU Radio (Minnesota State University- Mankato), Americana Showcase, and The Minnesota Shorts Festival of Plays.

Social networking and online presence

KSMQ website visitors have the ability to access Legacy supported programming, learn more about current and upcoming programming and connect to the state's page on Legacy Amendment activity. KSMQ also uses its social media platforms to highlight Legacy supported programming: Facebook (most effective to date), Twitter and Google+.

Job creation

Legacy funding supports 3 FTE positions at KSMQ, including: two dedicated Director/Editors, a portion of the Production Manager position and personnel time reallocated from non-Legacy supported staff.

Lakeland Public Television, Bemidji/Brainerd

Lakeland Public Television (LPTV) currently reaches approximately 383,500 individuals over an estimated 7,500 square miles in northern and central Minnesota who view the station either off-air (antenna), via cable or via satellite. Another 773,200 individuals south of our primary market have the ability to receive our signal via direct broadcast satellite.

Weekly series

Common Ground

LPTV has been producing a weekly half hour program entitled Common Ground, which premiered on January 7, 2010. This weekly series highlights northern and central Minnesota culture by exploring the unique people, places and events that are an important part of this region. Each week, Common Ground takes viewers on a journey of exploration into the worlds of art, culture, and history that help to shape and define the region's diverse communities. In its second season, LPTV produced 36 episodes of Common Ground. In addition, LPTV has already completed 14 episodes in its third season; a total of 28 episodes will air before July 1, 2012. This program airs Thursdays at 7 p.m. and is repeated Sundays at 6 p.m. on Lakeland Prime. All past and current episodes are available for viewing anytime through the station's website: www.lptv.org. Refer to Appendix B for a full list of episodes with short descriptions.

Weekly arts & history segments

In Focus

To complement the weekly series, LPTV has also produced shorter segments, entitled In Focus, that are broadcast within the existing nightly Lakeland News program. These segments feature local arts, culture and history topics. To date, LPTV has produced 44 separate segments of In Focus segments.

Artists, organizations and partnerships

With its goal to capture the creative process of various artists living in the region, Common Ground allows viewers the opportunity to meet artists such as Jon Romer, a flutist of Cass Lake, Minnesota who creates Native American music or the lifelong residents in the city of Saum who gave us a tour of the historic Saum School House. Common Ground also features cultural events such as the Itasca Pioneer Farmers Show, which offers a step back in time to mechanized farmer and logging in northern Minnesota. To date, there have been 232 individuals featured in Common Ground and 44 featured in In Focus. There were 41 artists featured on Season 2 of Common Ground, 10 organizations, 5 history related segments and 15 segments related to northern Minnesotan culture. To date, there have been 21 artists featured on Season 3 of Common Ground. There have been 2 segments focused on the history of northern Minnesota and 2 culture related segments.

Arts, history, and cultural organizations have also been featured on Common Ground and In Focus. These have included The Great River Arts Association, The Bemidji Community Art Center, The New York Mills Regional Cultural Center, Terrapin Station in Nevis, The Bee-Nay-She Council Bird Club, The Basket Weavers Guild, The Headwaters School of Music & Art, The William S. Marvin Training & Visitor Center, The Northern Trackers Model Railroad Club, the historic Grand View Lodge, The Sons of Norway and the Bemidji Curling Club – just to name a few. A full list of featured individuals and organizations can be found in Appendix B.

Online and social networking efforts

LPTV has created a dedicated Legacy web page where viewers can find both seasons of Common Ground and watch any episode on-demand without charge. LPTV's Legacy producers have also used popular social networking sites such as Facebook and Twitter to promote the program as well as the artists and organizations it features. Due to social networking, producers are able to interact with viewers and participants as well as gather feedback.

Viewer Comments – Verbatim

"Hello Common Ground! Looking forward to upcoming segments! Love your show!" "Jane Marks- Hastig's story was so Fab! I missed it on Thursday but was able to catch it tonight! I always learn something new about an artist or the area on your show! Thanks!"

In Production

"Paddles Up! The Lake Bemidji Dragon Boat Festival"

Lakeland Public Television's Legacy Production team is currently busy with post production of a one-hour documentary titled "Paddles Up! - The Lake Bemidji Dragon Boat Festival". This documentary explores this unique local festival by looking into its origins, the people working behind the scenes to make it a reality, and all the individuals who take part in the races. Several partnerships with local and non-local organizations were enhanced during this production. Concordia Language Village, The Bemidji Area Chamber of Commerce and The Bemidji Rotary Club played an active role in this piece. "Paddles Up!" was shot over the course of a week in August 2011 and will air on Lakeland Public Television in March of 2012.

Job creation

As a result of the Legacy Amendment funding, new positions have been created including a Legacy production manager, two producers/directors, and a reporter. In addition, this funding has allowed the station to reallocate existing staff into Legacy producing roles.

Pioneer Public Television, Appleton/Worthington/Fergus Falls

Pioneer Public Television, based in Appleton, Minnesota is dedicated to programs that educate and sustain our rural communities through services that reflect our local values. For over 45 years, Pioneer Public TV has served its rural audience through a mix of local and national programs rich in cultural heritage, diversity and educational opportunities.

Weekly series Postcards (Season 2)

Pioneer Public Television premiered season two of Postcards on February 13, 2011. A weekly 30-minute program, this local show features the art, history and cultural heritage from a Western Minnesota perspective. New programs are broadcast on Sunday evenings with repeated episodes on Monday and Thursday for encore viewing. Season two contains 13 episodes which were produced and aired in 2011. Complete episodes from seasons one and two are available for viewing on the station's website, www.pioneer.org/postcards.

Two New Minnesota Documentaries

Our State Parks: Minnesota River Sensations

Pioneer produced a 30-minute documentary that features four Minnesota State Parks that are all in the Minnesota River Valley. The documentary starts at Big Stone Lake State Park (which many consider to be the headwaters of the Minnesota River), and travels down to Lac qui Parle State Park, Upper Sioux Agency State Park, and Fort Ridgely State Park. Each segment features an inside perspective from park managers and visitors who describe the history of each park and current-day features.

Volstead Fever: Prohibition in Minnesota

In correlation with the documentary Prohibition by Ken Burns, which aired nationwide in October, Pioneer aired a 30-minute documentary about prohibition in Minnesota. This program included a segment on Rep. Andrew Volstead of Granite Falls, who authored the federal legislation, enabling prohibition. The program also explored the history of Schell's Brewing Company of New Ulm, which survived prohibition by bottling soda and non-alcoholic malt; the first bar to open in Minnesota following the repeal of prohibition, The Silver Dollar Bar in Ghent; Minnesota author Doug Hoverson and Brau Bros. Brewing Company CEO Dustin Brau also contribute local and historical perspectives on prohibition in Minnesota.

Other programs

- Scandinavian Christmas Traditions: Working with Morris couple Dennis and Carole Johnson, Pioneer produced a one-hour holiday special showcasing Scandinavian cultural heritage through cooking and holiday traditions. The program also featured Scandinavian music by Minnesota musicians.
- Prairie Sportsman: Two segments were produced with Arts and Cultural Heritage Fund money. One covered the art of wood decoy carving, and the other featured the history of snowmobiling with antique snowmobiles.
- Prairie Yard and Garden: Two 30-minute episodes were acquired through our partnership with University of Minnesota-Morris. The first episode profiles the history of the gardens on the UM-Morris campus; the second explores the history of the gardens at Schell's Brewing Company in New Ulm.

- Pioneer Presents: In 2010, Pioneer reported producing three 30-minute concerts featuring local musicians. In 2011, Pioneer produced three more music specials and aired all six performances for a series of 30-minute broadcasts. The additional three groups featured in the 2011 productions were Ole Olsson's Oldtime Orchestra, George Maurer Group, and Carrie Sorensen.

Community Impact

To assess the community impact of Arts and Cultural Heritage Fund content, Pioneer invited members of the communities featured in Our State Parks and Volstead Fever to attend respective premiere events. For Our State Parks, the free screening event held near Granite Falls, provided an opportunity for public comment from park supporters and community members. Pioneer hosted two premieres for Volstead Fever, one in New Ulm and a second in Granite Falls. Before the Granite Falls screening, a panel discussion engaged audience members on the topic of civil discourse and the history of events that lead to prohibition. We collected comment cards from audience members at all events which feature statements such as:

Our State Parks: "Good show. I've camped at a couple places and loved it – this made me want to check out the others."

Volstead Fever: "Excellent portrayal of local history, culture, businesses, and people."

Praise for Postcards also include:

"Postcards is so well done; so interesting to this retired county historian! Keep up the good work. I'm looking forward to the new [Pioneer] Presents as I truly enjoy the music programs on PBS."

Educational efforts

Pioneer worked with the Southwest/West Central Service Cooperative to connect with history teachers in the region. As a result of this effort, Pioneer provided approximately 90 DVD copies of Volstead Fever to high school history teachers.

Job Creation

Pioneer has approximately 4.75 FTE staff working to produce Arts and Cultural Heritage Fund content. This includes an executive producer, one producer/reporter and one photographer/editor. In addition, Pioneer has three other staff positions employed half-time or more producing ACHF content (for a full-time equivalent of approximately 1.75 positions). Pioneer has also contracted freelance production workers as needed.

Prairie Public Broadcasting, Moorhead/Crookston

Prairie Public Broadcasting is a trusted public service dedicated to building an exciting and productive future for the prairie and its people. Prairie Public Broadcasting offers a window on the world through national and regional television and radio programming; creates a forum for the most important issues facing our region with locally produced, topical documentaries; partners with others to foster education for all ages; and utilizes digital technology and Web services to expand those valued services. With Legacy funding, Prairie Public Broadcasting is also maintaining its commitment in providing educational services to 97 school districts serving 67,000 students in NW Minnesota.

Weekly Series

Prairie Mosaic

This series featured profiles of artists, museums, and organizations that impact the cultural life of Northwestern Minnesota. Below is a sampling of this new series.

Minnesota Artist Profiles

Prairie Public Broadcasting also produced new, in-depth profiles on local artists such as Laura Youngbird, of Breckenridge, MN, whose mixed media art themes originate from experiences at Indian boarding schools and assimilation into non-Indian culture. Also featured were artist Buck Paulson, originally of Pelican Rapids, MN, kaleidoscope artist Rodney Haug, Minnesota State University Moorhead filmmaker Tom Brandau, and jewelry artist Jennifer Patterson of Alvarado, MN.

Minnesota Cultural Destinations

To shed more light on Minnesota destinations, Prairie Public Broadcasting also produced new segments on cultural destinations in Minnesota that included a tour of historic Kelly Farm in Minneapolis, MN, Peder Engelstad Pioneer Village in Thief River Falls, MN, Pickwick Mills in Pickwick, MN, Phelps Mills in Phelps Mills, MN, the newly renovated Middle River Arts Community Theatre in Middle River, MN, and Enger Dance Studio in Roseau, MN

New Minnesota documentary

With Legacy funding, Prairie Public Broadcasting produced one new full-length documentary, Red River Steamboats.

Looking at the shallow twists and turns of the Red River, it's hard to imagine that steam powered paddlewheel boats were once the most important transportation link between St. Paul and Winnipeg. From the first in 1859 to the last that sank in 1909, Red River steamboats hauled thousands of settlers and millions of pounds of freight across the border. Although it lasted barely 50 years, the age of the steamboat forged a commercial network between the United States and Canada that exists to this day in the I29 corridor. To shine a spotlight on this important piece of prairie history, Steamboats on the Red examines the history of steamboat transportation on the Red River and the impact this important trade route had on the development of the region.

New Minnesota music performance

With Legacy funding, Prairie Public Broadcasting produced two new music performance projects:

- Prairie Musicians

This new series featured 5 musical acts from Northwest regions of Minnesota.

- Tim Sparks, Frazee, MN

- Johnson Family Band, Moorhead, MN
- Elisa Korenne, New York Mills, MN
- Fargo Moorhead Symphony Orchestra String Quartet, Moorhead, MN
- Fargo Moorhead Jazz Arts Big Band, Moorhead, MN

Fargo Moorhead Symphony Orchestra Young People's Concert: Meet the Orchestra

Recorded at Concordia College in Moorhead, MN, The Young People's Concerts have been going on for at least 30 years. The goal is to provide one high-quality arts experience for elementary students each year. Fourth graders hear a symphony concert with a total audience for this concert of around 2,500 students and 250 adults.

Educational Efforts

With Legacy funding, Prairie Public engaged in a wide variety of educational efforts, including:

- Placed Library Corner packages in 13 Northwest Minnesota Lake Agassiz Regional Libraries.
- Distributed press releases announcing the arrival of the Prairie Public PBS Kids Raising Readers Library Corners.
- Hosted two Share A Story Family Literacy Events this September in Thief River Falls and Frazee, Minnesota.
- Published lesson plans on the Prairie Public Education Services website, developed by northwest Minnesota educators integrating arts, history, and culture in cross curricular applications using regional video and other multi-media resources.
- Met monthly with the MECA early childhood organization in Moorhead and the West Central Initiative Regional coordinators to educate members about online arts, history, culture, and literacy multi-media resources available for educators, caregivers, and families.
- Sent monthly e-newsletters to 6,300 northwest Minnesota teachers representing 43,000 students in 79 school districts.
- Provided professional development video series and supplementary classroom materials through free online multi-media websites and video series.
- For more information on Prairie Public's educational efforts, please reference Appendix D.

Job Creation

To date, Prairie has created one full-time position to produce and coordinate Legacy content.

Estimated Viewership

Prairie Public Broadcasting reaches people through broadcasts to Northwestern Minnesota, North Dakota, parts of South Dakota and Montana, and the southern region of Manitoba, Canada, including the city of Winnipeg. Nielsen Research for November 2011 estimates a total of approximately 620,800 local viewers. Prairie Public Broadcasting also reaches viewers nationwide via programs produced for NETA, and worldwide via the internet.

Diversity

Prairie Public Broadcasting actively recruits authorities, artists and performers for documentaries and performance broadcast programs who reflect the changing ethnic diversity of viewers within its broadcast territory. Particular care is taken that documentaries on history subjects reflect the impact and participation of Native Americans in the events covered.

Twin Cities Public Television, Minneapolis/St. Paul

Twin Cities Public Television (tpt) reaches millions of people, through broadcasts to Minnesota and western Wisconsin, through programs produced for PBS audiences nationally and through web-based content seen by people around the world. More than one million local viewers tune-in to tpt each month. Through broadcast, cable and satellite, tpt2 is received by more than 70% of Minnesota residents and roughly 5% of those in Wisconsin. (See Appendix E for viewership information specific to Legacy programs.)

Doug Beasley, Fine Art Photographer

A Weekly Series + Performance Specials

MN Original is tpt's weekly celebration of Minnesota artists, across all disciplines and all cultures. MN Original demystifies the arts, increases awareness of Minnesota artists and arts venues, inspires viewers to think about the arts and artists in new ways, cultivates new audiences for the arts by promoting a deeper understanding of the creative process, and curates contemporary arts in Minnesota for generations to come.

MN Original goes behind the scenes and covers all arts disciplines; visual arts, performing arts, literary arts, film and video, architecture and design and all genres of music. All of the music in the program is created by and credited to Minnesota musicians. MN Original regularly captures sophisticated multi-camera performances, which appear both within the weekly series and are showcased in one-hour specials. (See Appendix E for the list of one-hour performance specials.)

The series is broadcast each week on all three of tpt's digital broadcast services: tpt2, tptLIFE and statewide on The Minnesota Channel (MN Channel), a total of 18 stations. (See Appendix E for the list of artists and musicians featured.)

Minnesota History Documentaries and National Productions

First Speakers: Restoring the Ojibwe Language

This program was first reported last year. However, an important recognition occurred in September 2011 when First Speakers was awarded a regional Emmy® Award for Best Cultural Documentary. (See Appendix E for the complete list of recognitions.)

Gracious Spaces: Clarence H. Johnston, Minnesota Architect

As Minnesota's first and only State architect, Johnston designed such noted places as the Glensheen Mansion in Duluth, the University of Minnesota, more than 40 residences on Saint Paul's Summit Avenue, Stillwater Prison and many other institutions statewide. Clarence H. Johnston has been noted as one of Minnesota's most prolific architects who had a major impact by designing some of the State's finest architecture. (See Appendix E for more information related to this documentary.)

Lost Twin Cities III

This program explores the vibrant history of some of Minneapolis and Saint Paul's nostalgic, celebrated and surprising past chapters of the place we call home. Lost Twin Cities III looks back at the people and places that helped make the Twin Cities the unique, spirited place it is today. (See Appendix E for more program, ratings and website details.)

National Productions

PBS Arts from Minnesota: The Guthrie Theater Presents Gilbert and Sullivan's H.M.S. Pinafore

Art Scene: Minnesota (a nine-minute mini documentary)

The Guthrie Theater's production of Gilbert & Sullivan's comic operetta, H.M.S. Pinafore was produced locally and broadcast nationally, as the premiere program in a new PBS national arts series launch in Fall 2011. The mini documentary, Art Scene: Minnesota, the story of the State's arts community and Legacy Amendment, followed the performance in the national broadcast. The programming block featured more than one hundred Minnesota artists. (See Appendix E for more program, ratings and website details.)

PBS NewsHour requested and aired four MN Original artist profile segments during national broadcasts throughout 2011. (See Appendix E for the total number of minutes Legacy programming has been broadcast, program details and ratings.)

Program and Content Available Online

MN Original engages Minnesota's arts community and new audiences online through its website (mnoriginal.org), through multiple online video channels and through social media platforms. MN Original episodes are posted simultaneously with their broadcast premiere and are segmented for easy search and viewing.

632 arts and cultural videos are currently posted and available online. Legacy funded programs and additional content produced for the web are embeddable and easy to access and share. mnoriginal.org features a Minnesota arts wire, aggregating the latest arts news from local arts and news organizations, and provides a local arts events calendar.

Through Legacy funded programs, the community continues to engage with the programs and each other online with significant growth through mnoriginal.org and social media platforms including Facebook and Twitter.

Arts Education Materials

The Minnesota Humanities Center creates activity guides for each artist profile featured in the series, encouraging students, educators and viewers to explore the artists' work beyond the broadcast or online experience. These guides and all video content are downloadable and available online at mnoriginal.org. The guides follow the Minnesota Department of Education's requirements for academic standards. (See appendix E for sample activity guides.)

Diversity Efforts

More than 72% of tpt's Legacy funded programs feature artists from culturally diverse backgrounds, including Native Americans, Africans, African-Americans, Asians, Asian-Americans and Latinos. Our team is dedicated to ensuring the series, documentaries and other programs present diversity in arts disciplines, in cultures and in historical content. (See appendix E for diversity details.)

Jobs Creation

As the result of Legacy funding, tpt created fifteen new FTE positions, maintained five positions for a total of twenty positions from 2010, to produce MN Original, four performance specials, two history documentaries and additional content for broadcast and the internet. (See Appendix E for position titles.)

WDSE-WRPT, Duluth/Hibbing

WDSE-WRPT is a trusted non-profit community partner serving 491,000 proud residents of northeastern Minnesota and northwestern Wisconsin with a vibrant selection of national, regional and local public television programming, creating a forum for important community discussion, fostering education for all ages, and using digital technology and the World Wide Web to extend the reach of our valued services.

Weekly Series The PlayList created an exciting venue for regional art!

The PlayList goes behind the scenes and covers all arts disciplines. Each live, half-hour episode introduces a variety of visual and performing artists and musicians working in northeastern Minnesota. The series gives valuable public exposure for artists and arts organizations working to inspire our community. Some 255 artists from more than two dozen communities represented in 2011. More than 120,000 people have connected with those artists through The PlayList's online resources. To date, 70+ art groups and galleries and organizations reach out through The PlayList (see attached list). Programs can be viewed online via www.wdse.org and on www.playlistonline.org.

In collaboration with Duluth Homegrown Music Festival, The PlayList captured the excitement of New Band Night 2011 in a high-energy, multi-camera production. Twenty-four musicians, from four bands, made a splash in their debut performance on the local music scene. In addition, the heart and soul of the Grand Marais Art Colony's annual painting competition was captured in The PlayList "Brush Off" along with the beauty of Lake Superior's North Shore.

A NEW Minnesota Documentary "STAGE TO SCREEN: Historic Theaters of the North"

A new documentary from WDSE WRPT features rare photographs and film footage gleaned from ten different collections and draws from eleven interviews to tell the story of some of northern Minnesota's most famous and infamous theaters. "Stage to Screen: Historic Theaters of the North" looks back to the earliest settlement in the region, when hard working lumberjacks and miners came to town for entertainment. From the Iron Range towns of Virginia and Hibbing, to Superior Street in Duluth, theaters large and small, lavish and sparse opened to serve the growing population.

"Stage to Screen" recalls some of the theaters that faded into history, and others that made an elegant transition to "moving pictures." This engaging hour long historical documentary was made possible entirely by Arts and Cultural Heritage funding and records a regional story previously undocumented.

Bringing Beautiful Music to the Northland Duluth Superior Symphony Orchestra

Arts and Cultural Heritage funding allowed WDSE-WRPT to broadcast the April 30, 2011 performance of the Duluth Superior Symphony Orchestra, live from the DECC Auditorium in Duluth. The concert featured a selection of “Sultry Dances,” and included an innovative performance by renowned tap dancer Max Pollak. The DSSO performed selections from composers Leonard Bernstein, Sergey Prokofiev and Maurice Ravel. Pollack showed off his virtuoso talent during Morton Gould’s “Tap Dance Concerto.”

Encouraging an Appreciation of the Arts through Partnerships and Collaborations

The Duluth Superior Symphony Orchestra’s Young People’s Concert was taped before an energetic audience of 2,666 elementary students from 38 schools across northern Minnesota on March 2, 2011. The program subsequently aired across the region during school hours on March 11, 2011. The broadcast made it possible for students from schools unable to attend the concert in Duluth, because of time or travel costs, to still benefit from the eight lesson plans and online teaching materials available on the DSSO website and enjoy participating in the music and fun of the young people’s concert.

Educational Opportunities Online

WDSE-WRPT has created and made available via our www.wdse.org website fifteen lesson plans. The PlayList website offers a variety of resources for teachers--activities, lesson plans and playlists of video segments grouped to reflect and correlate with MN State education guidelines & objectives. Visit www.theplaylistonline.org and click on resources for teachers and explore the visual arts—acrylic painting, masks, portfolios, portraits, watercolor weaving and more.

Job Creation

A full time producer and full time director were retained to produce The PlayList series. In addition a portion of a full time web designer, and production assistant were hired to support Legacy productions, specifically our commitment to make this work available to all Minnesotans via the web. A portion of a full time director and producer focus on the creation of our new Arts and Cultural Heritage Fund supported documentary productions. In addition, one education specialist was hired on a contract basis to create study guides for The PlayList.

Economic Impact

"Thanks so much for featuring "North Street" on The PlayList. We had a bunch of new visitors who mentioned they saw the show and wanted to stop in. Your show is great for area arts!"

--Mary McReynolds, Lyric Center for the Arts, Virginia

The PlayList broadcasts connect and inspire artists and the public. Art venues in communities large and small have seen a marked increase in attendance. Artists themselves are utilizing clips from The PlayList to apply for grants, secure exhibits and reach customers with their work.

Diversity Commitment

WDSE-WRPT’s Legacy programming is crafted to be reflective of the wonderful variety found in northern Minnesota. This includes all the different towns, cultures, races, and disciplines of arts and culture. We actively seek the involvement of a spectrum of artists and look for stories that connect with the changing demographic profile of our broadcast area.

What People Are Saying About KSMQ Legacy Programming

Viewer, professional, and peer response to Off 90 and other KSMQ Legacy programming has been overwhelmingly positive. Just a few of the comments we've received are excerpted below:

- Thank you for wonderful KSMQ "Off 90" feature of the Southeastern Minnesota Youth Orchestras (SEMYO). I have heard many great comments from people who have viewed one of the three on-air broadcasts or have watched the program through use of You-Tube.
- SEMYO families have emailed the link to out-of-state family members for viewing - it has provided an opportunity for extended family to see information on the orchestra activities in which their children participate.
- The quality of the "Off 90" program is exceptional. Thank you for allowing SEMYO the opportunity to be featured on KSMQ's "Off 90" program.
 - Judy Hickey
- You guys did an amazing job. It was great to see the end product with some understanding of what went on to create it.
 - Renee Nation
- I loved the segment that you did on the Museum. I have told many people that it was the best video piece that has ever been done about us.
 - Andy Maus, Executive Director, Minnesota Marine Art Museum
- I love this show!! So much information.
 - Julie Jackson, comment on Facebook
- The museum piece was beautiful!
 - Catherine Watson, comment on Facebook
- It's so great that the arts are getting more attention in our region these days and thanks so much to your crew for getting the ball rolling!
 - Elizabeth Leyk
- I think you guys did a great job on the MMAM [Minnesota Marine Art Museum] segment. It's interesting, it flows nicely, beautifully shot and edited. I'm proud to be part of it, Thank you.
 - Brian Stewart
- I just wanted to say what a nice job you did with my segment. I've been telling all my friends who missed it on TV to watch it online. It was so clever how you edited it – you did such a nice job.
 - Nancy Ellison
- I just wanted to let...you know that you did a really great job on my segment of the show. And also, thank you. I was nervous about it beforehand, not because I doubted you, but because I've realized that it's strangely humbling anticipating and seeing oneself on television. I was afraid I'd be critical of myself. However, I loved the show and so did my family. My mom and sister had tears in their eyes. I won't be afraid to send the link to everyone I know :) Thanks again, and again, really fabulous job!
 - Keelie Ritter

Off 90

Bet you wish you had a buck for every time you've heard someone say that, huh?

In this corner of Minnesota, just about everything and everyone is "off 90." So, that's the title we took for this innovative new series.

What is it? Lots of things. Stories from around the corner, maybe up the highway, down the next main street, probably stories you haven't heard before. Some will be funny, some will be thought provoking. Inventors and other local heroes. Acts of creativity and acts of charity. The saints and scoundrels of local history. Seniors and scouts. Poets and parks. Past and present. A to Z. Yep, just about everything in our world is Off 90.

We hope you'll tune in!

It's Your Legacy...

KSMQ Legacy Productions

In 2005, Minnesota voters passed a landmark piece of legislation, the Minnesota Clean Water, Land and Legacy Amendment. Its mission is to help preserve and document the treasures of culture, history, and heritage that make Minnesota special, and to increase access to and enhance the enjoyment of all we share. A long name, and an intricate history, but we just call it Legacy.

KSMQ is meeting the Legacy challenge by doing what television does especially well—telling stories. Documentaries. Locally produced programs on Minnesota history and culture. A weekly series, Off 90, with an eclectic mix of talent and towns. Specials, featuring music, theatre, dance and comedy. Homegrown talent and local arts venues. Through it all, Legacy highlights the dynamic cultures and traditions that make our world special.

We invite you to tune in!

Pioneer's primary partnership for Arts and Cultural Heritage Fund content in 2011 was with the University of Minnesota-Morris. This partnership included work on two episodes of Prairie Yard and Garden, as well as a 60 minute documentary titled Promise of the Prairie, which we featured as a two-part episode in Postcards. This documentary focuses on the history of the school from it's creation to today.

Total number of lesson guides and education segments: 1

Pioneer provided approximately 90 DVD copies of Volstead Fever to high school history teachers after connecting with the Southwest/West Central Service Cooperative who provided history teacher contacts in the region.

Website statistics: approximately 7500 page views

In this total, Pioneer found approximately 4000 page views to Arts and Cultural Heritage Fund related websites (show pages, specials, etc.) and roughly 3500 video views of ACHF content. Our content is currently hosted through the COVE video system and a Pioneer Public TV YouTube channel.

Total number of hours streamed on website: approximately 20 hours

In last year's report, Pioneer expected to double their reported 8 hours of available online Arts and Cultural Heritage Fund content. To date, roughly 20 hours of ACHF content from all seasons of Postcards and various specials are available for viewing any time through the website and Pioneer Public TV YouTube channel.

Estimated viewership:

Pioneer is not in a Nielsen metered market, so Nielsen audience numbers are not available. Our viewing area includes approximately 500,000 individuals, not including those reached by direct broadcast satellite beyond the reach of our over-the-air signal. The broadcast area includes roughly 45 counties.

Diversity Efforts:

Pioneer's weekly series, Postcards, features a wide array of cultures and local histories. Season two showcased the culture and art of Native American rock music with the band Brulé, as well as one educator's efforts to teach

Chinese by encouraging her students to enter a Chinese singing competition. In addition, Pioneer will continue to work with our Community Advisory Board to increase diversity in productions.

Educational Efforts

- 1) Placed Library Corners packages in 13 Northwest Minnesota Lake Agassiz Regional Libraries: McIntosh, Bagley, Fosston, Fertile, Crookston, Mahnomon, Detroit Lakes, Hawley, Breckenridge, Barnesville, Climax, Ada, and Moorhead. The free resources give children the opportunity to strengthen their literacy skills through multimedia resources including 26 interactive reading activities, corresponding DVDs, interactive websites and free activity books, bookmarks, coloring sheets, and other materials for parents and caregivers to take home. A recent study of one website, PBS KIDS Island dedicated to building literacy skills, found that low-income children who used the website regularly for a month showed significant gains in many literacy areas including rhyming ability, letter sound recognition and beginning sound recognition.
- 100 people accessed the Library Corner resources in the Moorhead library
 - 30 to 70 (avg. of 40+) people used the materials in each of the libraries.
 - 500 people accessed the Raising Readers Library Corner in the 13 libraries from October through December.
 - According to a recent informal survey given to the librarian at each site, the Raising Readers Library Corner has been very beneficial. The most used resource was the literacy activity book for the children and the parent literacy resources.

The librarian from Hawley said "I think the parents really appreciate being given resources that they can use at home with their children to encourage reading in fun ways, thank you (Prairie Public) for providing these helpful resources! And I use the DVD provided during my story time."

2) Sent press releases announcing the arrival of the Prairie Public PBS Kids Raising Readers Library Corners to the 13 local newspaper representing the regional libraries, four of which we know printed the articles: Erskine Echo, the McIntosh Times, the Farmers Independent in Bagley, the Thirteen Towns in Fosston newspapers

3) Hosted two Share A Story Family Literacy Events this September in Thief River Falls and Frazee, Minnesota.

- 150 people attended
- Distributed 82 books
- Trained 18 educators in online multimedia resources for professional development and classroom instruction.

One teacher said after their Literacy event, "I think the parents were pleased with all the booths at the literacy night. They enjoyed the interaction with their children and gained valuable handouts and ideas for helping their children become better readers and writers. They (Prairie Public Education Services) were very helpful and excited for us. We look forward to working with them in the future"

4) Published 32 lesson plans on the Prairie Public Education Services website developed by northwest Minnesota educators integrating arts, history, and culture in cross curricular applications using regional video and other multi-media resources.

5) Met monthly with the MECA early childhood organization in Moorhead and the West Central Initiative Regional coordinators to educate members about online arts, history, culture, and literacy multi-media resources available for educators, caregivers, and families and to incorporate Ready To Learn and Parenting Counts materials into current family outreach programs.

6) Repurposed and extended the value of 18 Minnesota arts and heritage local productions by publishing on the Education Services regional website.

7) Monthly e-newsletters were sent to 6,300 northwest Minnesota teachers representing 43,000 students in 79 school districts.

8) Provided

- 25 professional development video series and 92 supplementary classroom video series (total of 2500 individual video titles) and correlating websites accessed through broadcast, lending library and/or the Internet.
- A free online regional multi-media website hosting video, articles, lesson plans, primary documents, etc about the geography, history, government, culture, current issues and citizenship of northwest Minnesota for use by students, teachers, as well as the general public.
- 1,680 hours of education programming broadcast on Prairie Public channels
- A second free online multi-media website hosting video, articles, lesson plans, primary documents, etc about the geography, history, government, culture, current issues and citizenship across the United States.
- Onsite and conference-based professional development identifying multimedia resources and integrating technology in lesson planning.

9) Produced 19 Music and Art Education video segments for use in schools, Web, and DVD.

“Legacy funded television programs have immensely increased my awareness of the variety of the visual and performing arts in the state of MN. As a participating artist in the MN Original series I can attest that this program has also positively impacted me economically through resulting sales and commissions of my art work. In addition the feedback I continuously receive from longtime and new customers/followers has added profoundly to my status of recognition, which in turn has made me a more active participant in the local arts.”

Gracious Spaces: Clarence H. Johnston, Minnesota Architect

September 27, 2011

Clarence Johnston was one of the most prolific and eclectic architects in Minnesota in the late nineteenth and twentieth centuries. Johnston's creations include many of Saint Paul's Summit Avenue mansions, University of Minnesota's Northrop Auditorium, Glensheen Mansion, the Cattle Barn at the State Fair and Stillwater Prison. He designed and built essential architectural elements that formed our state's identity. Acclaimed architectural historians Paul Clifford Larson and Katherine Solomonson and award-winning architectural critic Larry Millett shape the story of Mr. Johnston in Minnesota's gilded age.

Lost Twin Cities III

December 7, 2011

106 Unique Artist Activity Guides Spanning 28 Episodes from January 1 – December 31, 2011

ACTIVITY GUIDE*Midwest Art Conservation Center:*Writing/Essay/Journal

Painting Conservator David Marquis recently had the opportunity to compare two Gauguin paintings to solve a mystery – which was painted first? He uses technical examination of the paintings (x-ray, infrared scanning, etc) to get as much information as possible. He regularly uses problem-solving skills in his work. Do you like a mystery? Do you enjoy problem solving? What kind of tools do you use to solve problems or mysteries? Also, what in Marquis' background led him to this type of work? How does his art incorporate problem solving?

Activity

Although his job is not to re-create or match the work of the original artist when he restores paintings, his work must match to the untrained eye. Using a picture or photo of a painting from a famous artist, tear the picture in half. Give one half to a friend and keep one for yourself. Decide on a final scale in advance. Re-create one half of the picture as well as you can and have your friend re-create the other half. Do they still match when you put your pieces side-by-side?

A tpt Original Production

Representing cultural and ethnic diversity

Twin Cities Public Television's Arts and Cultural Media Department considers an artist or individual person's heritage or ethnic background to be diverse if they are Native American, African, African-American, Middle Eastern, Asian, Asian-American and Latino. Youth as well as artists with a disability are considered diverse.

Reflecting the diversity of our communities, more than 72% of tpt Legacy funded programs produced feature artists from culturally diverse backgrounds.

- Programs produced and broadcast include 28 half-hour episodes of MN Original, 4 one-hour performance specials, 2 one-hour documentaries and a nationally broadcast two and one-half-hour performance special and a nine-minute mini documentary
- 78% of MN Original episodes produced and broadcast feature artists from culturally diverse backgrounds

Examples of MN Original Profiles Featuring Diversity

- Japanese born Kinji Akagawa is a sculptor, arts educator and public art pioneer whose work includes "Garden Seating, Thinking Reading" in the Minneapolis Sculpture Garden.
- Tilly Laskey, Curator of Ethnology at the Science Museum of Minnesota, shares artifacts from the collection of Native American material, culture and contemporary art.
- Artistic Director Lou Bellamy leads Penumbra Theatre to inspire audiences and the community by celebrating the African American experience.

MPTA has honored me and saved me. One thing about being a professional artist and an art activist that embraces collaboration and community engagement is communication. The programs you create convey the rich legacy in this state better than anywhere in this country. I am an addicted fan. I have expanded my appreciation to a level that is unbelievable.

As a very busy artist I appreciate the depth and breath of you programming. I learn so much each time I watch multiple programs on my computer even when I am out of town which I share with my friends and patrons. I use the programs created about my work on MN Original and Playlist as introductions for residency, lectures, proposal and patrons. I am so honored to have benefited from such a talented and prolific organization. Thank God for such funding. Minnesota is highly recognized for its talented arts community. You all have increased that by an amount that is beyond, beyond.

First Speakers: Restoring the Ojibwe Language, a one-hour cultural documentary, premiered statewide November 2010. Minnesota's own Ojibwe language is endangered. A new generation of Ojibwe scholars and educators are racing against time to save the language. Working with the remaining fluent-speaking Ojibwe elders, they hope to pass the language on to the next generation.

"Howa! O'o sa gii-tagoshin omaa noongom! Enda-onizhishin! Wow, a real Emmy Award showed up at our doorstep today! It is ever cool, the kids are so excited to see it and to visit about it!"

Leslie Harper, Program Director Niigaane Ojibwemowin Immersion Charter School

After First Speakers: Restoring the Ojibwe Language won the Midwest Regional Emmy® Award in September 2011, tpt sent the award to the locations featured in the show to share the statue and appreciation to the people and communities who helped create the program. The first stop was with Niigaane Ojibwemowin Immersion Charter School in Bena, Minnesota on the Leech Lake Reservation. The Emmy® was greeted with great pride by the students and parted with a ceremony in the school and community. The tour will continue on to Bemidji, Ponemah, Red Lake and Minneapolis. The Waadookodaading Ojibwe Language Immersion Charter School in Wisconsin will see the award in 2012. The Emmy® voyage can be tracked with program updates online.

MN Original has had radio and press coverage and has appeared in blogs; MplsStPaul Magazine, Pioneer Press, MinnPost, City Pages, Metro Magazine and in Minnesota Public Radio's State of the Arts blog.

This PlayList special captures the musicians, music and magic of Duluth's premiere original music celebration on opening night at Duluth's Pizza Luce'. New bands include The Horror, Damn that Swenson Band and Aaron Gall & the Collectively Compassionate Band.

May 12: #221

Traditional meets contemporary in the music of McInnis' Kitchen. The talented foursome draws from Celtic and Scandinavian influences to create a fresh vibe with a familiar ring. BOLD Theater packs a message into each performance. Adaptation is key to the company's staging of "The Peach" "McInnis' Kitchen and "The Peach""

May 19: #222

Enjoy the smooth harmonies of 'Yester' playing a live, in-studio set. The Duluth band has a light touch and bright folk sound. And find out how and where to celebrate Bob Dylan's 70th birthday!

May 26: #223

Aaron Kaercher brings his Crazy Neighbors from Ely to the WDSE•WRPT studio. It's folk rock from the end of the road. The band is #1 on the rock charts in Ely!

June 2: #224

Singer/songwriter Rachael Kilgour infuses her music with honesty and explores topics many listeners can relate to. Generous with her time and her talent, Kilgour brings her song stories to The PlayList for a live performance. Meet the dedicated dance company preparing a Royal Ballet at the Reif Center in Grand Rapids.

June 9: #225

Preview the independent film "Life of Riley" with Carrie Boberg before the Duluth-based director takes the film on the road to festivals across the country. The North shore acoustic blues musicians Bob Bingham & Gordon Thorne combine nimble playing and depth for a powerful, in-studio set.

June 16: #226

Two skillful musicians, Germaine Gemberling & Rich Mattson, bring fresh folk to the studio from Sparta, MN. Artist Mary Plaster creates movable sculpture. Her powerful puppets march in parades, star in theater productions and celebrate holidays!

June 23: #227

Tangier 57 brings a taste of the islands to their original lounge sound. The group brings their tiki-jazz vibe to The PlayList in advance of a new summer release. And find out about summer arts plans in Ely, offered by Ely Greenstone.

June 30: #228

Two Many Banjos pairs the dueling banjos of Marc Gartman and Dave Carroll, with bass player Matt Mobley, a washboard and violin. Enjoy their unique brand of folk/bluegrass fusion and get a sneak peek at a summer production of Cabaret.

October 6: #301

Adam Swanson interprets our culture in strong, symbolic images; his paintings celebrate the fragility of human existence. Horror, romance, and evocative choreography combine in the MN Ballet's production of Dracula. Junkboat brings live music to the The PlayList, infusing powerful stories with driving rhythms for an original Sparta sound.

October 13: #302

Andy Elwell's musical sensibilities reflect his passion and practical experience. The Duluth native brings his acoustic guitar to the studio for a live set on The PlayList. Photographers thrive on collaboration, inspiration and encouragement through The North Shore Photography Club.

October 20: #303

Art and healing fuse in the latest project by artist Lee and Dan Ross. From their home in Hovland, to the Minneapolis Children's Hospital, the couple designs with powerful intent. With violin, cello and piano, The Gichigami Trio takes on the nuance of chamber music -- "art music" for the heart.

October 27: #304

Enter the theater of the imagination when Icebox Radio Theater presents skits from The Koochi Koochi Tour. The I Falls company shares contemporary, relevant stories of life in the border country. Jessica Myshack & friends bring a little country to the mix. Original, heartfelt songs and Myshack's clear vocals make a striking combination for The PlayList audience.

November 3: #305

Duluth rock 'n' roll royalty, Manheat, brings its post-punk vibe to The PlayList. The band debuts new material on the eve of its new release. Ceramic artists in Grand Marais feed the community and the latest art happenings in the region.

November 10: #306

En garde! The pressure's on when artists gather for The Plein Air Brush Off on the shores of Lake Superior. With dueling brushes (and a few pastels) adventurous artists have just 90 minutes to create a winning masterpiece. The Plein Air painting competition is hosted by the Grand Marais Art Colony, attracting dozens of accomplished artists. Raw materials include oil & watercolor paint; pastels and passion.

November 17: #307

Ranier, Minnesota inspires acclaimed author Mary Casanova. Share her creative process and award-winning approach to children's literature on The PlayList. Enjoy contemporary commentary from songwriter Phil Jents. His honest vocals blend seamlessly with his straightforward musical style.

November 24: #308

Relax and enjoy musical highlights from Minnesota musicians featured in The PlayList's second season. High energy ska music from Coal Car Caboose, the indie/rock sound of The Crazy Neighbors and more! Look for favorites, both old and new, in this special program that includes musical standouts from northeastern Minnesota.

December 1: #309

Holiday comedy from the founder of Rubber Chicken Theater. Alan Jensen's hand-made drums keep the beat for dozens of bands nationwide. His Duluth workshop is home base for discerning musicians looking for beautiful kits. And Bernie Larsen brings his style of reggae and pop music.

December 8: #310 (R-223)

Enjoy an encore of a Midwest Emmy-nominated episode of The PlayList with music from Aaron Kaercher and The Crazy Neighbors in the studio! Learn what Duluth's Music Resource Center has to offer young musicians as they follow their passion for music and sample some of Duluth's theater offerings from the Duluth Playhouse and the Renegade Theater Company.

December 15: #311

Cloquet's alternative pop/rock music of Emily Jayne sensation offers jazzy writings on piano with clean guitar work and groovin drums. Meadowlands fiber artist Sharon Postance Meyer weaves natural materials into sculptural statements.

December 22: #312

Designer & illustrator Joan Henrik goes big and earns national recognition for her terrazzo project. The Duluth Superior Symphony invites Acrobats on stage for a spectacular New Year's Eve celebration in Duluth's Amsoil Arena. The blues comes to The PlayList this holiday season in the form of the Virgil Caine Band.

Guest: Mark Eskola, Duluth East Orchestra Director

Duluth Superior Symphony Orchestra's Young People's Concert 2011

The music performed on this concert was chosen to develop the educational idea that composers often create music based on interesting motives, very short rhythmic or melodic fragments. The program includes excerpts from Ravel's Boléro, Berlioz's Symphonie Fantastique and Bernstein's On the Town. To highlight and help students identify (or "spy") a motive, the orchestra will perform other short excerpts from a variety of genres, each with a strong motive. These examples include the Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, 1st Movement, Mozart's Requiem, John Williams' theme music for Indiana Jones and The Raiders of the Lost Ark, and Dizzy Gillespie's "Salt Peanuts."

Duluth Superior Symphony Orchestra's Sultry Dances

Arts and Cultural Heritage funding allowed WDSE-WRPT to broadcast the April 30, 2011 performance of the Duluth Superior Symphony Orchestra, live from the DECC Auditorium in Duluth. The concert featured a selection of "Sultry Dances", including a performance by renowned tap dancer Max Pollak. DSSO Music Director Markand Thakar led the orchestra, which performed selections from composers Leonard Bernstein, Sergey Prokofiev and Maurice Ravel. Pollack showed off his virtuoso talent during Morton Gould's "Tap Dance Concerto".

Stage to Screen: Historic Theaters of the North

A new documentary from WDSE-WRPT tells the story of some of the most notable theaters of Northern Minnesota. "Stage to Screen: Historic Theaters of the North" takes a look back to the earliest days of settlement in the region, to a boom in the economy when new millionaires built venues for fine entertainment. From the Iron Range towns of Virginia and Hibbing, to Superior Street in Duluth, theaters large and small, lavish and ludicrous opened to serve the growing population. "Stage to Screen" recalls theaters that faded into history, and others that made a hard transition to showing moving pictures.

Appendix G – Viewer, Artist and Participant Comments about MPTA Programs

Off 90 / KSMQ:

* I love the Off 90 program and know it would not be possible without the Legacy funding. I have been at several functions/activities/venues because of what I have seen on the program. Also, having been involved in one of the features, I was astounded by the response from people who had seen it! This is effective!

- Debi Neville, Rochester

Common Ground / Lakeland:

* Common Ground has increased the awareness of the diversity of Artist in the area for many people I have talked to - many people I wouldn't have even thought were aware of the show, or even interested. I have even received feedback from people outside of the area that have seen the show on their own local Public TV stations. There is a lack of culture in the rural areas so spread out in northern MN. This show provides a sense of culture and pride because of the sense of diversity and quality of the Artists in the area. I don't know of any other type of media that has been able to provide this awareness in such a positive and informative way.

- Michael Sedivy, Nisswa

* Common Ground is very well produced and has impact with the audience. I have received many compliments from those who have watched my segment on the show. Not sure about the financial impact to my work, however, the show certainly has planted a seed that will no doubt grow in the future. It is amazing the talent of artists in the area and what they do. Some very creative and talented people have been featured. The talent of the producers, videographers and editors are also amazing. Legacy funding must continue in order to produce these shows to showcase these artists, the history and culture of Minnesota.

- Kris Kristufek, Breezy Point

* Although I listed myself as a participant, our (Quilts of Valor) involvement included being featured on Lakeland Public Television's Common Ground program. As a result, we have had numerous inquiries about our project and have been able to share our program with many community leaders and the public throughout Minnesota. Thank you!

- Marcia Stevens, Brainerd

Postcards / Pioneer:

* Pioneer Public Television through their PostCards Series and other programs have given me a new awareness of the talent and positive features of Southwestern Minnesota. Their programming has been excellent and increased my awareness and appreciation for the cultural vastness and diversity of our area in Minnesota.

- Erlin Weness, Worthington, MN

The Playlist / WDSE:

* Watching The Playlist, Stage to Screen: Historic Theaters and Split Rock: The Superior Light have broadened my awareness of, and appreciation for, the cultural landscape and history of the Duluth area.

- Kathleen D. Clark, Duluth

* Playlist is a fantastic way for us to get the word out about our shows. Karen and the crew are welcoming, professional, and knowledgeable about the arts. Thank you, Playlist!

- Brian Matuszak, Duluth

* This is a great asset to our wonderful arts community!

- Katy Helbacka, Duluth

* Playlist is providing an important service in showcasing and encouraging regional artists and art consumers. It has clearly increased the arts contribution to the economy and quality of life.

- Bill Hansen, Tofte

* The impact that The Playlist has on the arts and culture of this community is unmeasurable. To have the quality of coverage by people that truly care about their stories is a treasure. Thanks for all the hard work you put into your shows!

-Tessa Lenneman, Duluth

* The Playlist on WDSE has become an IMPORTANT part of the art and music scene in Northern MN, and the relationship that now exists between artist and the show – the exchange of exciting, relevant programming content for effective publicity – is mutually beneficial and really quite remarkable. ALL funding for The Playlist is TRULY “money well spent.”

- Eric A. Krenz, Gilbert

* I am particularly fond of The Playlist, which is a beautifully crafted program that creates awareness and celebration of the arts. There is a delightful mix of music (sometimes live in the studio!), art, and theatre, focusing on impressive local artists. I am happy to view and share this program. Host Karen Sunderman should also be complimented on her grace, curiosity, and kindness, as her interviewing skills are clear and creative, and her personality relate-able and comforting. I adore this program!

- anonymous, Duluth

* The Legacy Fund has fueled lots of new arts activities (and don't forget the subsequent private sector $$$ leveraged and spin-off). Shows like the Playlist really celebrate what a great cultural community we have. Thanks, Minnesotans!

- anonymous, Duluth

* Arts journalism is a critical bridge between artists and community. The Playlist is a fun, entertaining, informative, inspiring look at the amazing diversity of artists working in our region. It makes me happy to live and work here in the northland.

- Kathy McTavish, Duluth

* The Playlist's programming has further mediated multiple perspectives in the local arts and entertainment. It provides a unique historical artifact not produced elsewhere.

- anonymous, Duluth

* I have worked as an artist for 25 years. One of the biggest challenges in making a living as an artist is getting the word out to the general public. Playlist lets people know we are out here.

- Mike Tonder, Two Harbors

* The Playlist is a wonderful program that greatly contributes to the fabric of our arts community in Duluth. We have great stories to tell and tremendous artists to feature. Artists choose Duluth because of the quality of life and a supportive arts community - resources like the Playlist prove that artists can gain the exposure for their art while living in Greater Minnesota.

- Don Ness, Duluth

General comments about MPTA Legacy funded programs

* These programs are extremely important to artists working and living outside the major metro areas of the state. They offer a space to exchange ideas and raise awareness to the artists working in the region.
– anonymous, Duluth

* Beautifully done programming, and the quality of the pieces make me seriously proud to be a Minnesota artist.
– Alex Kuno, St Paul

* Amazing work. Inspired to keep creating work and seek more professional activities as an artist.
– Joellen Preston, Mankato

* I'm thankful for the greater awareness of arts and culture in our small community. Thank you!
– Samantha Nienow, Bagley, MN

* The response I received from my segment was instrumental in my appointment to the arrowhead regional arts council as a committee member in choosing 4 recipients for the grants offered to the contestants. The program was an exciting addition to the culture of our area. I have also been given a contract to teach a watercolor class at the range art center to beginners as well as those more advanced in the medium. The exposure that your programs present to the public help so greatly in fostering an awareness of our arts community and the many activities and opportunities available to young and old alike. As a retired art teacher my focus has and will most always remain on the youth of our region. It is most important that our young and even the very young people are exposed to the arts at every opportunity and what better way than watching a television program that could feature possibly their own classmates. I am totally committed to making my contacts, the people I am involved in and even the casual acquaintance, aware of what you are about. And I thank you again for the opportunity to share my small world of art with your viewers.

– Terry Maciej, Pengilly, MN

* valuable regional programs, an excellent use of Legacy funding.
– Joy K. Lintelman, Moorhead

* I depend on Minnesota Public television for coverage of the arts. No other resource does it more engagingly or more comprehensively.
– Harriet Bart, Minneapolis

* I enjoy seeing the variety of music, literary, and visual arts that is present here in Minnesota. It programming such as this that provides the public another means of realizing how much the arts effect our daily lives.
– Gary Leeper, Two Harbors, MN

* Very inspirational. Connects me to my Minnesota heritage.
– Jake Hendricks, Appleton, MN

* The increased availability and vibrancy has enriched my life and impacted the entire community.
– Linda Niskanen, Mt. Iron

* This program enhances the arts. When we know what people are doing artistically, we are inspired to do our own art. Art is the single best way that I know of that helps build the unique local character of a community. It celebrates individual voices and history. It improves the quality of life.
– Sheila Packa, Duluth

* So much great programming. Who knew there was so much talent and interesting history in Minnesota! Thanks you Public Television and thanks to the Legacy funds.

- Rita DeZurik, St. Joseph

* This program is invaluable to the Art community and so important for a documentation of what is going on in Minnesota for education, for encouraging the public to know and understand and support the arts by participation and to stepping up and fund the arts.

- Judy Onofrio, Rochester

* As a new resident of the state, I have greatly enjoyed learning more about the arts and culture in Minnesota. It gives me a sense of connection and pride, and has made me more aware of new opportunities to explore and do.

- anonymous, Northfield

* I think legacy-funded projects are invaluable to the culture of Minnesota and important to enhancing quality of life.

- Billie Jo Konze, Ham Lake

* The Legacy funded television programs are great. They enrich my life. I'm so pleased we have this wonderful resource for funding these programs in Minnesota.

- Richard Stryker, St. Paul

* Those programs make me more aware of all the cultural events and artists we have in MN. Good job!

- Caryl Busman, Chandler

MN Original / tpt

* My whole family watches MNOriginal. I think it is an invaluable resource because it introduces the public to new artists and creators of all kinds. The production is excellent. Bravo to you!!

- Jane Frees-Kluth, Minneapolis

* MPTA has honored me and saved me. One thing about being a professional artist and an art activist that embraces collaboration / community engagement, is communication. The programs you create (all of which are fantastic), convey the rich legacy in this state better than anywhere in this country. I am an addicted fan. I have expanded my appreciation to a level that is unbelievable. As a very busy artist I appreciate the depth and breath of you programming. I learn so much each time I watch multiple programs on my computer even when I am out of town which I share with my friends and patrons. I used the to programs created about my work (MN ORIGINALS and Playlist) as introductions for residency, lectures, proposal, and patrons. I am so honored to have benefited from such a talented and prolific organization. Thank god for such funding. Minnesota is highly recognized for its talented arts community. You all have increased that by an amount that is beyond, beyond.

- Ta-coumba T. Aiken, St. Paul

* Thank you for all your work! I feel this program is and continue to be one of the best way to inform and serve for our diverse activities of art & life in our communities! lots of love, Kinji

- Kinji Akagawa, Afton, MN

* MN original is such a treasure. Please, don't change a thing. I have learned much about the arts, from the complexity of theatre lighting to the intensity of acapella singing. I have been introduced to venues i didn't know existed, reintroduced to music i'd forgotten. Thanks so very, very much for keeping the arts accessible to All Minnesotans.

- anonymous, Burnsville

* Please keep up the great work. My family and I enjoy your programs, and as a local artist myself I appreciate everything you do for the community.

- Ian Henrikson, Minneapolis

* Love the MN Original series and wish it would air either more often or at more optimal times--but it's great to be able to watch them online, too. The segments are fresh, inspiring and engaging. It's wonderful to see such a variety of MN artists making Minnesota proud. This type of programming shows the importance of the Legacy fund and what it was meant to do for the arts community.

- anonymous, Minneapolis

* I especially love MN Original, the broadcasts and web site/web presentations. So great for showing diverse talent in the community/state.

- Susan Campion, Minneapolis

* MN Originals is a favorite in my house! It exposes us to so many talents in our community and offers us ideas of what artists and their work to next visit. Thank you for supporting the art community!

- anonymous, Lakeville, MN 55044

* MNO has done wonders for the fine artists in the Metro area. To have a successful career an artist must connect with their community in various ways. MNO has brought many artists into our conscious that would otherwise had limited exposure.

- Nicholas Legeros, Minneapolis

* I'm already involved in the arts community; I recommend MN Original to people who are just becoming interested in the arts as it shows them there are active artists right in our community. The show helps me to be informed, learn about things I don't always have time for. I often follow up on websites to learn more about the artists featured.

- anonymous, St. Louis Park

* What an amazing way to share the artistic work being done in Minnesota! The state is supporting the arts through Legacy funding, and MNO provides an important outlet for this work reaches a far greater audience. I am amazed at how rich and varied the arts are in the State of Minnesota, and I'm proud to support TPT in their efforts to discover and examine Minnesota artists and their works.

- Angela Heinsm Roseville

* I watch your program because my entire self-image is that I am original, one-of-a-kind, in dance, music, now as an author. I am 70 years old, this not new to me. I am working at finding the opportunity to make an appearance at a library because I know it is available to me, with legacy funds. Seeing the variety of originality on MN Original inspires me, gives me a sense of peers. Hearing their own words mixed with local music shoots me out of the gun. Thank you.

- Beth Obermeyer, Minneapolis

* I was featured on MN Original, and they did a fantastic job showcasing me and my work. It was a great way to expose my art to a wider audience. Thank you!

- Laura Hallen, Minneapolis

* I love the show! Thank you for making it a priority to give greater exposure to all the awesome artists in MN.

- Elisabeth Preble, Minneapolis,

* I got a good half dozen custom projects from my spot on MN Original and I have it linked on all my web sites- it has helped me immensely in clearly showing people what I do.

- Brittany Foster, Minneapolis
